Medical Simulation Corporation Partners with HealthStream to Distribute SimSuite Online Courseware

DENVER, February 25, 2011 - Medical Simulation Corporation (MSC) is pleased to announce a new partnership with HealthStream (NASDAQ: HSTM) to distribute a selection of SimSuite online courseware through the HealthStream Learning Center™. HealthStream and MSC share a mission of improving patient safety through increased clinical competence and confidence of the healthcare workforce.

“SimSuite online courses support the continuity of best practice-based training for healthcare professionals within a single hospital, or across multiple healthcare systems,” says Bill Younkes, MSC President and CEO. “Our partnership with HealthStream will help deliver SimSuite research-based patient safety education to healthcare providers nationwide.”

SimSuite online courses address patient safety and quality challenges to improve the competence and confidence[®] of all healthcare providers in providing high-quality patient care. The courses may be completed on their own, and also prepare providers for hands-on SimSuite simulation training. The following SimSuite courses are now available through HealthStream:

- Stroke
- Sepsis Comprehensive
- Sepsis Concise
- Central Line Management
- Ventilator-Associated Pneumonia
- Door-to-Balloon Time
- Decompensated Heart Failure
- Venous Thromboembolism: DVT/PE
- ECG Fundamentals
- Coronary Anatomy

As the leader in hospital-based online healthcare education, HealthStream delivers outcomes-based training results to organizations through learning solutions used by approximately 2.45 million healthcare professionals. Visit HealthStream at www.healthstream.com/MSC for more information about available SimSuite courses.
